SCIENCES OF TOURISM AND MADE IN ITALY

The proposed training offer is unique in its kind; in fact, it integrates the study of linguistic disciplines with disciplines related to the world of communication, marketing and the lasting learning of foreign languages in frontal mode at the headquarters of San Cipriano Picentino (Sa). The course therefore provides for the study of the English and Spanish languages mandatory for three years, the choice of a second language in the second year between German and Romanian. Equal importance is given to economic-legal, socio-psychological, historical and visual communication subjects, through supplementary teaching modules; joint summer-school, winter-school, activated with foreign universities; other training activities such as: professional masters, seminars. In addition, students are offered the opportunity to carry out internships and internships in Italy and abroad, at companies and universities. The language courses provide for the integration of a part of the course carried out by native speakers. The student will acquire a series of transversal skills useful to enter, without difficulty, in the global labor market, as he has excellent linguistic-communicative skills and with an important critical knowledge of communication and corporate culture. INTEGRATIVE ACTIVITIES A rich range of related and integrative activities gives the course an exclusive and professionalizing interdisciplinary character. Internships, laboratories, project work, study experiences abroad and internship opportunities give the TRIENNALE a cut not only theoretical but also practical activities and ensures that this course of study trains students and valid professionals to be included in the business and international scenario. In fact, they will be able to collaborate with Italian, Anglo-Saxon, Romanian, Spanish-speaking companies, using communication as a successful tool. The SSML Salerno has in fact signed 10 protocols of in-tesa with Romanian, Brazilian, Moldovan, Serbian, English, Hungarian and Mozambican Universities, aimed at the activation of Erasmus Plus and Erasmus Mundus programs, which will allow students of SSML Salerno to be able to carry out study periods abroad.
